GOULD MUSIC CLUBS TO PRESENT THE MIKADO THURSDAY, MARCH 22

Goold Academy's musical organizations have been very busy rehearsing Gilbert and Sullivan's musical operatic masterpiece "The Mikado." The plot combines beautiful music with a typical love story placed in an environment of corrupt political officials under a totalitarian dictatorship. Gilbert and Sullivan ridiculed the blown-up officials of his fictitious Japanese Empire, in order to decry the pomp and "phony" attitude of totalitarian regimes of all ages. The combined choruses of Goold Academy started a concentrated effort to learn this work right after the Christmas vacation. All varsity members will do the stage action, and Miss Whitney of the Home Economics Department and her girls have searched the campus for suitable kimono-like garments, which would give an oriental impression. A chorus of non-varsity girls, located in the balcony, will sing a song of their own and in addition will reinforce the finales of both the first and the second act. The soloists will have professional costumes. The work itself will be simplified in places, but otherwise will be given in an almost unabridged version. The dry British humor, prominent by virtue of its constant understatement, had to be translated into American idioms, will still carry the message of making fun of pompous and corrupt officials.

The cast will be as follows: The Mikado, James Murphy, Bethel; Nanki-Poo, James Whynnaught, Bryant Pond; Pooch-Ba, Howard West, Errol, N. H.; Ko-Ko, Harriet Stevens, Old Greenwich, Conn.; Pish-Tush, Charles Merrill, Bethel; Yum-Yum, Betty Murrell, Northeast Harbor; Pitt-Sing, Martha Myers, Bloomfield, N. J.; Peep-Bo, Clara Waldron, Poland; Katisha, Eleanor Merriam, Damariscotta; A Noble, Herbert Morton, Bethel; An Attendant, Nancy Bates, Durham, N. H.; Trumpet Player, Harriet Kneeland, Bethel; A Drummer, Walter Beebe, Soudi Arabia; Lights, Frank Benson, Muskegon, Mich.; Director, Walter Marquardt, Dramatic Coach, Miss Valeria Kimball.

The musical accompaniment will be shared by Dawne Christie (first act) and Carla Grover (second act) both of Bethel. The scenery and posters were made by Sally Webster, Boston; Shirley Van Hynning, Mattituck, Fla.; Pat Brewster, of Bethel; Margo McKenzie, Montpelier, Vt.; Walter Beebe, Soudi Arabia. The stage manager will be Leslie Higgins, Soudi Arabia. In charge of the costumes will be Miss Mary Whitney of the Home Economics Department. Make-up will be supervised by "Joe" Foderick of the faculty. The program will be produced on Thursday evening, March 22 in the William Bingham Gymnasium at 8 p. m. The approximate cost of performance will be $400. This truly will be one of the most pretentious undertakings at Goold, and because of it, a similar production of the same scope will have to wait two or three years before it will be given again.

The M. E. C. met Monday night at the home of Gladys Guernsey with good attendance and one new member. The president, Elsie Poore, presided over the business meeting. There was a discussion of the fried clam dinner, sponsored by the Bethel Grange at the 100th Hall Sunday. Members are asked to work on tickets for a summer sale. The next meeting will be April 9th at the 100th Hall with Elsie Poore and Lora Ford hostesses.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

I would like to call attention to the fact that all tractor owners who do not have the excise tax paid on their tractors by April 1, will be liable for personal property tax assessment on the tractors. This is usually more than the excise tax.

Mr. Piller of Cole, Lyster & Trumble is now in town taking the valuation of all personal property owned by the business property owners in town.

Mr. O'Donnell and assistant of Wright and Pierce are also working on the maps and property lines for the new valuation.

A few have indicated a desire to purchase a map to show their own property. I believe Mr. O'Donnell is planning to have prices available very soon for those who may be interested in one or more maps.

Thanks.

OXFORD COUNTY GIRLS ON NATIONAL TEEN BOARD

Patricia Leavitt and Elaine Perry, 17-year-old Oxford County residents, have been chosen for membership on the "Farm Journal" magazine's national Teen Board for 1956.

Members of the board, of 100 outstanding rural teen-agers all over the country, will serve as advisors to "Polly", editor of "Farm Journal's" teen-age department. They will give their ideas and opinions, and report on interesting school and community activities, for publication in the "Up in Polly's Room" department, a regular monthly feature of The Farmer's Wife section of the national farm magazine.

Patricia Leavitt, of South Hiram, Oxford County, a high school senior, is president of the Fryeburg Academy Future Homemakers of America, and editor of Maine's "Teen Times." Active in school and community affairs, she is a member of the National Honor Society, the 4-H Club, the Girls' Athletic Council, the Grange, and the Y-Teens. Miss Leavitt is also a school cheerleader.

Elaine Perry, of Buckfield, is president of her local Future Homemakers of America club, and has led District 331A meetings for two years. She is a local leader of the community 4-H Club, a church choir member, and a strong leader in many school activities.

EASTER SEAL CAMPAIGN NOW GOING ON

$22,000 will be needed in 1956 if crippled children in Maine are to receive the care necessary for their rehabilitation. Hundreds of children still await Easter Seal help, in addition to those who are now being served.

Setting that amount as the goal for the annual Easter Seal Campaign, Mrs. Marie I. Preston, executive director of The Pine Tree Society for Crippled Children and Adults, said that the handicapped of Maine depend largely upon the generosity of Easter Seal contributors to make possible facilities for their care, treatment and service.

"Many children who have been waiting for care must be reached this year," Mrs. Preston added, "if their rehabilitation is to be achieved in time to assure them happy, productive adult lives."

Easter Seal's symbolic 35 years of service to the crippled by the Easter Seal Christmas nationwide Campaign contributions help support and maintain four Easter Seal Services in Maine: The Pine Tree Society's Hyde Memorial Rehabilitation Hospital in Bethel, and Pine Tree Caring Home.

The 1956 appeal is scheduled March 19 to April 29.

CONG. GUILD LEARNS OF HEALTH AND WELFARE WORK

Miss Agnes Cormier of the State Department of Health and Welfare spoke at the regular meeting of the Congregational Church Guild on Wednesday evening, together with Mrs. Pearl McMillin, a former member of this division who also gave information on this phase of the work. They provided a most interesting and enlightening discussion on the Health and Welfare program.

Mrs. Millie Pendleton, chairman of the evening program, also presented an impressive dedication of the Guild's friendly service quota which this year is being provided for Cotton Valley School in Tuskegee, Alabama.

Mrs. Estelle Goggin advised the group on the plans for the Sample Bazaar which are well under way. The date set for this is April 26. Mrs. Helen Hillier, representative to the Health Council, requested members to sign up for blood typing and transportation to clinic and hospital. Several who are unable to furnish transportation volunteered to baby sit for those who would like to furnish transportation and needed a baby sitter.

The Eleanor Gordon Goold met Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Stanley Lewis. Mrs. Albert Black was co-hostess. Plans were made for the Mother and Daughter Banquet which will be May 9. At the next meeting scrapbooks will be made for the Hyde Memorial Hospital. Members will bring pictures which are already cut out. Mrs. Donald Walker received the mystery package Mrs. Arthur Lewis, program chairman of the evening, introduced Miss Emily Thibault of the Goold Academy faculty. She showed colored slides of England and gave an interesting commentary on English people.

GOULD WINTER CARNIVAL A SUCCESS

The Goold winter carnival opened with the presentation of the three one act plays in William Bingham Gymnasium before a large and appreciative crowd on Friday evening. This was followed by the coronation of the Carnival Queen, Miss Sandra Myers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur R. Myers of Bethel, on a snow throne on Alumni Field. The procession was an impressive one with six team members carrying red flares to light the way for the queen and her attendants as they proceeded to the snowdow by the girls' dormitory. The queen's attendants were Miss Jeanne Gallagher, Miss Ann Hastings, Miss Valeria Keich and Miss Martha Myers.

On Saturday top schoolboy skiers from nine schools entered the competition at Swan's Corner with the slalom held at 10 a. m. and the jumping at 2 p. m. Alan Lamson of Goold, Junior National Nordic Champion, took first place in the slalom with a time of 60.8 seconds for the two combined runs. Roger Dion of Lebanon, N. H., topped jumping honors in the afternoon event with a point total of 154.6 and the longest jump of the day of 105 feet. Lamson of Goold placed third in this event. Schoolboys from Rumford, Mexico, Andover, Edward Little, Berlin, Lyndonville, Vt., Lebanon and Lacombe, N. H., were entered in the competition. Following are the first ten finishers in the two events:

Slalom:
1. Alan Lamson, Goold 60.8
2. Roger Dion, Lebanon 63.0
3. John Bower, Ed. Little 63.4
4. Bretton Russell, Frye 64.3
5. Melvin Jodrey, Goold 64.7
6. Dick Breen,
7. Jackson, N. H. 66.5
8. Mike Small, Ed. Little 67.0
9. Fletcher Manley,
10. Lyndon 73.8

Jumping:
1. Roger Dion, Lebanon 154.6
2. Bernard Dion, Lebanon 147.0
3. Alan Lamson, Goold 143.3
4. Gerald Smith, Goold 143.3
5. Mike Small, Ed. Little 143.2
6. Douglas Dion, Lebanon 139.9
7. John Bower, Ed. Little 129.2
8. Fletcher Manley, Lyndon 137.5
9. Renfield Welch, Lyndon 137.4
10. Dan Gatz, Ed. Little 137.2

On Saturday evening a large crowd including numerous alumni who returned to the Academy for the carnival enjoyed the Carnival Ball held in William Bingham Gym. Music was furnished by Gordon Howe and his orchestra of freshmen. During the evening contests of the intramural competition which included toboggan, snowshoes and novelty races, ticket sales and snow sculptures were announced with the seniors winning top honors for the combined scores and the sophomores a close second.

The monthly WCC meeting will be held tonight (Thursday) at the home of Mrs. Abbie Brown.

Dr. Boynton will be out of town March 19-25.

The Week in Oxford County

The home of Robert Bean, Huxley Hollow neighborhood, West Paris, was burned Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. Bean, with their two children, escaped in their night clothing. The origin of the fire was undetermined and the loss undetermined. The family is at the home of Mrs. Bean's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thorsen, North Woodstock. Sheriff James Lander reported survivors responsible for slashing of tires on passenger cars and a truck in Norway. Damage was estimated to be over $500. Two boys under plans of guilty were sentenced to the State School for Boys at South Portland.

George O. Freeman of Rumford, a highway department employee, donated his sixth pint of blood at the Rumford hospital. He is entitled to membership in the "Golden Club" in the Red Cross Blood Donor Program.

The sales and earnings of the Oxford Paper Company for the week were reported the highest in the company's history. The statement was made by Hugh J. Robinson, president.

John E. Hargent received the nomination for postmaster at Fryeburg.

The State Grange School of Instruction for Oxford County Grange jurisdiction was held at Norway Grange hall Tuesday. More than 100 persons attended. State officers were present.

Mrs. Beulah Staples began her duties Wednesday as temporary town manager at Oxford.

Inclement driving conditions have prevailed in nearly all sections throughout the week.

The citizens of Oxford held their annual town meeting without accepting the report of the town officers. They were advised by an attorney that such procedure was legal. Albert Ellsworth was moderator. $75.00 was raised.

The monthly meeting of the Western Maine Firemen's Association will be held at Kenway, N. H., Monday, March 19, with supper at the Methodist Church from 6:30 to 8:30. Robert W. Langdon of the Liberty Mutual Life Insurance Co., Portland, will speak.

Members of Purity Chapter OMM, who participated in Silent Night of Oxford Chapter, Norway, Tuesday night were Mrs. Charles Hixon, Mrs. Richard Bryant, Mrs. Mackey Lord, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Morton, Mrs. Arthur Runnels, Mrs. Henry Boyer, Mrs. Henry Hastings, and Mrs. Francis Noyes.

Ideas from other editors

From the Webster Times, Webster, Massachusetts: There are many differences of opinion regarding the value of voting machines. While most observers are quick to acknowledge that the lever system computes standing quickly and with unerring accuracy, they contend that the elimination of "cheating" removes one of the chief sources of human patronage available to party organizations on the local level.

The lever, then, is a convenience versus a drawback. Proponents of the voting machine plan point out that the machines are not only quick, accurate and convenient, but represent a substantial savings over a period of many years. To cite an example, Worcester census results were not posted until 9:30 p.m. One and one-half hours after the polls closed. With machines, we are told, the results would have been announced within ten minutes.

Providing a source of extra money for residents who are in need is, of course, commendable. That some officials claim, is the primary purpose for extension of our existing system of appointing "counters." How many of these persons named each election day rate classification as needy? Truth of the matter is that a few, if any, of the residents named to count votes each year are in dire financial need.

While it is undoubtedly true that most of us could use an extra day's pay, it is likewise true that, if necessary, we could get along without it. The big reason for inclusion of voting machines is not an attempt to eradicate human patronage. It is, instead, for the convenience in which every voter should share.

From the Oklahean News-Journal, Greatview, Florida: Voting machines are now in regular use in 15 counties in Florida, and will be used on a trial basis in six other counties in the coming May primary election.

The voting machine has made manual voting with paper ballots as outmoded as the automobile has made the horse and buggy.

From the Tallahassee Tribune, Tallahassee, Alabama: Many newspapers in this state, this one included, have joined opposition to the Supreme Court's segregation pronouncements. There has appeared much discussion in print recently of "interposition," "nullification," etc.

Some more aggressive citizens even entertain the idea of secession. To them, we address this advice: Perish the thought. There will be no need for secession.

When the state's 1957 automobile tag, replete with the slogan, "Y'all Come," are issued, Alabama will be laughed out of the Union.

Economic Highlights

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

Protecting small business against the alleged ravages of the business is an old political issue. It is tied in with the argument that big business tends to become monopolistic, and often is a menace to the success and even the very existence of the small concern. As William H. Grimes writes in the Wall Street Journal, "Because competition is not competition unless there is room for the small enterprise, a great many people have reasoned that the failure of any small enterprise is a sign that monopoly exists. They reach the conclusion that there must be interest in the small enterprise some time which justifies laws and actions being slanted in its favor."

Then Mr. Grimes offers a thoughtful discussion of the problem, having it largely on two concrete examples — one from this country, and one from France.

Prior to the great depression, he points out, the banking laws of many states were drafted in a way that favored the small banks. The idea and an appealing one it seemed to be — that every community of any size at all should have a bank of its own. Banks were started with almost incredibly inadequate capital — as little as $10,000. It was exceedingly difficult for such a bank to make good, much less earn a profit and lay aside reserves. It lacked the resources to attract managers of ability and experience.

Even in the booming 20s, Mr. Grimes writes, "there were enough bank failures to fully justify remedial steps." The late Senator Carter Glass, father of the Federal Reserve system, urged such steps. But nothing was done. Then came the depression, and epidemic of bank failures which was communicated from the small to the medium-sized and ultimately the large banks. As Mr. Grimes puts it, "The attempt to preserve the small preserved something else. It preserved weakness. And when adversity swept over the weak they went down and dragged the small down with them."

Mr. Grimes' other example is the Prudette movement in France. It consists of small shopkeepers, has 100 members to the National Assembly, and has made the French governmental situation even more hopelessly looking than it was before. This is strictly a protest movement. And what they are really protesting against, to Mr. Grimes' view, is modernization of the ancient French system of distribution of goods — a system brought about by laws designed to help small merchants.

The Prudette attitude, he writes, seems to make pretty ally the proposition that under any circumstances the small entrepreneur is an agent of stability.

This brings Mr. Grimes to his point. He is all in favor of small business, and of the laws protecting it from unfair competition. He recognizes that the small businessman is frequently an innovator. But he feels that smallness is not a virtue in itself. To quote him again: "There was a time when a bank in each village was a necessity. Under modern methods of transportation and communication, there is no such necessity. There was a time when the small shopkeeper of France performed a service. But when institutions no longer were in it to attempt to preserve them."

"Should we not rather be concerned that there exists an open opportunity for the small to come into existence and continuously be being new blood into the economy?"

THE AMERICAN WAY

Muscling In

IN SPAIN WITH MISS LAURA WILSON

Madrid, December 30. Spain is a wonderful place! I only wish that I could speak Spanish better. So many interesting things have happened that I do not know where to start. Perhaps at the beginning.

December 24th. I took a train to Bristol as I have written. Christmas is still a happy memory. When I arrived back at London I found Fran Epstein in my hotel room. Neither of us could believe that we were on the way to Spain. The next morning we arrived at the train station where we met Jane Compton, Sue and Carol (the latter two on the way to Austria). All went fine until we got on the ferry at New Haven bound for Europe. France all of us had forgotten. I had been sick in the Queen Elizabeth. I had had rather cross the Atlantic five times than the one time I had. We had gale force winds and you cannot imagine the sensation. For a while I was sure that I should be sick all the time. I was in Spain both Fran and I turned green — literally — and Jane was quite unbecomingly. It was the worst three hours I have spent in a long time. We were most surprised to find that we felt fine as soon as putting foot on land.

After three hours in Paris rail of which we spent finding the train we were to leave on we started for Irun, Spain.

We were well supplied with food, for Jane bought food, bread, spam, and cheese before we started. Spanish people are very curious, friendly, and interested. You should have seen us, every time we brought out the loaf of bread, we were the complete center of attention. However, they would never take any when we offered.

The train to Irun was quite comfortable. We slept rather well. Every few hours we'd all wake up, sing a few songs, take a look at the full moon and then go back to sleep. The fun was just beginning. With the morning came Spanish customs and the struggle with language difficulties. At Irun we managed to get on another train where we met the Spanish public for the first time. At first we saw a rather hilly, green, moist country which gradually became more and more barren. The sun came out real brightly only to disappear again when we reached Burgos at three. The landscape looks much as I imagine Arizona.

There was one scene — a hill in the background, sharp peaks — no vegetation — reddish brown streaks — a small village clustered around a church. Brown buildings — reddish and being placed. The whole scene made me feel that here were people who were struggling with nature and were losing. Here was a place where only the strongest would survive.

At Burgos my Spanish received its first test. I find that I can ex-

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

MARY DELUCCHI, 419 51st Street, Oakland, California, once had a change of bosses. The man she had worked for had always been very efficient, and had a certain schedule for work. Her new boss was very nice and she liked him very much, but he had one trait that nearly drove her crazy. He would leave everything to the last minute — and she was supposed to know how to handle everything at once. She would worry constantly about something she knew should be done which he hadn't got around to. And her worry showed in her face.

Then she ran across a book that taught her how to conquer worry. First came the suggestion to analyze her problem and she did just that, and she realized that she wasn't getting paid to worry. Secondly, she already had too many grey hairs and saw no reason for increasing them. Thirdly, everything eventually got done; even if it was at the last possible moment.

She began going to work in a happier frame of mind, worked very hard and did the very best she could, letting each tomorrow take care of itself. From that day on her life seemed transformed. Not only was she happier but she made others around her happier.

press myself and that they understand me — usually, but I do not understand them. Spanish people, however, are very patient and understanding. They seem to have all the time in the world! We managed to get to the right hotel, to identify ourselves, tell them we would like dinner, and get settled. None of them spoke English, so we had to be quite patient. With the hotel Austin, for we had been told never to stay in Third-Class Hotels. It was very clean. Everyone was very nice and the maid was adorable. The Spanish are very good looking but small. It was in Burgos that we met the Spanish schedule for the first time. Meals at 9:00 a.m. (a bun, butter, and coffee), 1:00 or 2:00 p.m., a snack at 5:00 p.m., and a dinner at 9:00 or 10:00 p.m. No one works between 1 and 4 in the afternoon, even in winter when the weather is quite cool. The afternoon movies begin at 7:00 p.m. The evening performances are 9:00 and 11:00. It takes forever to do anything involving other people, for everyone is so slow. In Burgos we saw the Cathedral, had an interesting chat with the waiter in a restaurant, and ate dinner at the hotel. It took us all of the next morning — Tuesday — to get our things to the railway station and discover when the train left for Madrid. It was quite complicated for we had read the timetable wrong.

However, we found a girl from Peru who spoke both English and Spanish excellently. She was a great help and happened to be going on the same train. The train was a little late and there were piles of people just pushing on to the third class section. Maria, the Peruvian, managed to get on with my suitcase, while I retained her suitcase thinking to pass it up to her. (The Spanish trains are very high. We have developed a system now to evade the porters and subsequent tips. One of us leaves the train and the rest hand the luggage down to that person. It is impossible to do it alone.) Well, there were so many people that Fran, Jane, and I decided it was impossible to get on third class so we jumped on first class. In a short time a man came racing through yelling something. Because we couldn't understand, we didn't worry and stayed where we were. Soon they started to load on these strange looking bundles. Guess what. This nice first class car was a mail train! We were pushed farther and farther down the corridor. For a long time we stood in the corridor, looking longingly at the empty seats. Pretty soon the mailman came along, motioned us into a nice compartment where a captain of the civil guard (there are two on every train) was sitting. He did not know a single word of English but he gave us a Spanish lesson. We were so pleased and amused. We told him about Maria and soon Maria found her way to the same compartment.

Before we reached Madrid we had to move to third class because there was too much mail, but we had some more interesting conversations there. No one would believe that I am "valiente y tres" (34) and older than Fran and Jane (32). One man showed us to taxi when we reached Madrid. By the time we had telephoned Jane's friends and found our way there, we were all in hysterics. We had to change taxis and the same fellow stayed with us, seemingly doing nothing but talking Spanish. In Aravaca they had to stop and to ask the way. When we left there, there was another fellow (three now including the driver) in the taxi. They love to ride, I think. We were really quite an attraction. Spain is not yet tourist ridden so they are not yet sick of foreigners. They are very friendly.

It's the Mighty Mite of chain saws

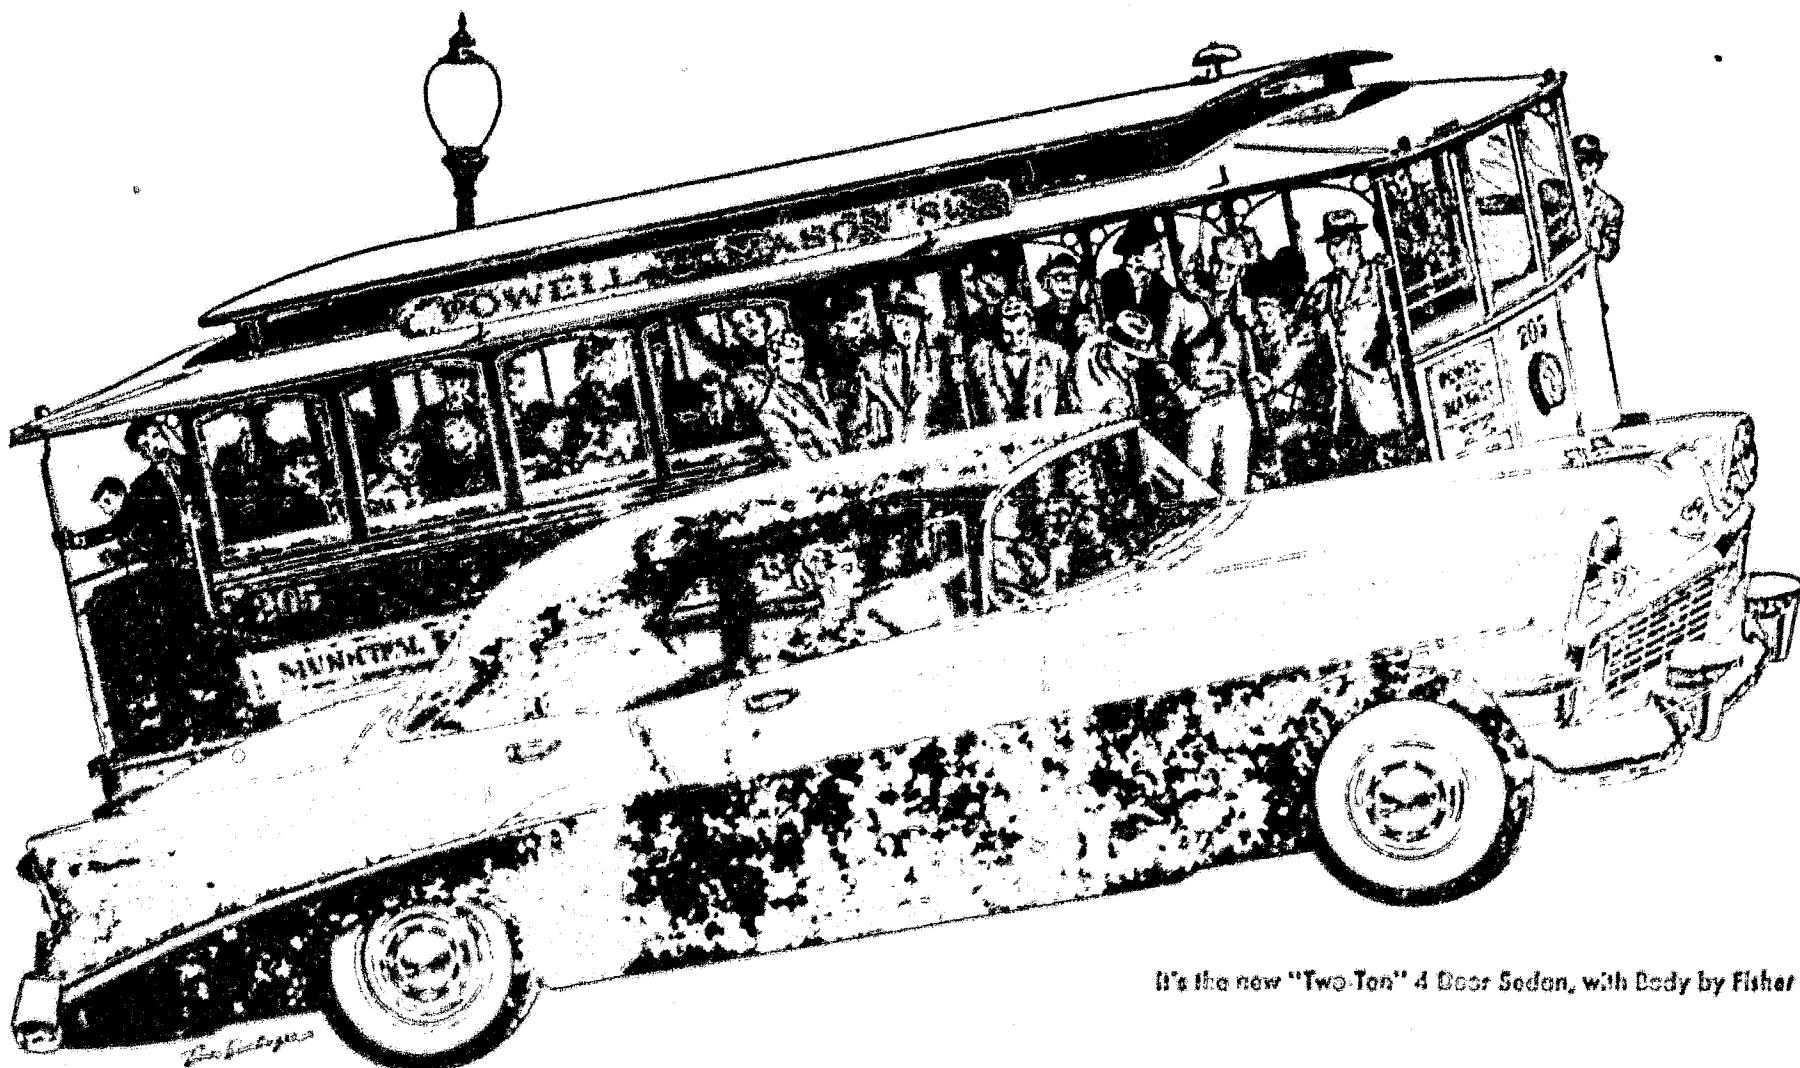

Homelite Model 17 Chain Saw

No other saw so light... so easy to handle... packs as much power. Enough power to rip through an 18 inch tree in 10 seconds. Enough power to cut 4 feet or more in diameter and to stand up without costly maintenance under steady production cutting. Try it... this mighty mite of chain saws... the new Homelite Model 17, today.

Nobody "spared the horses" in the '56 Chevrolet!

It's the new "Two-Ten" 4 Door Sedan, with Body by Fisher

This new beauty's got power. Big, deep-breathing power that's panther-quick and silk-smooth. Power that puts new kick in your driving and makes passing far safer.

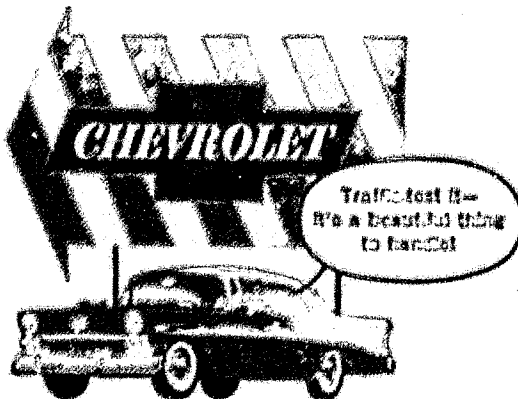

Feather-touch the gas pedal and you find out right quick that nobody spared the horses here!

A flick of your toe is all it takes to unleash a hoofful of power. Power that makes passing far safer by saving seconds when they really count! Power that's smooth as silk and as full of action as a string of firecrackers!

Big, deep-breathing power that ranges clear up to 225 h.p.!

But power's just one of the things that make for safer, happier driving in a Chevy. For instance, you get safety door latches and directional signals in all models.

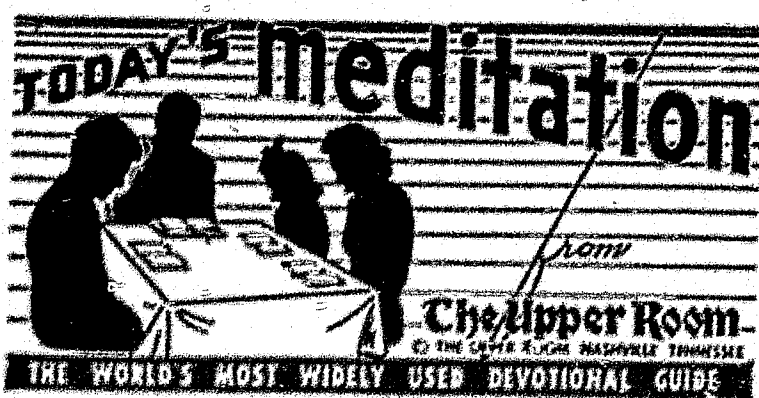

Come on in and see how the hot one handles. Why not make it soon?

Air conditioning—temperatures made to order—at new low cost. Let us demonstrate!

Read Luke 22:31-32.
Yes, if we share in His sufferings we shall certainly share in His glory. (Romans 8:17, Philippians 3:10)

MY baby boy taught me how the meaning of true sharing. He was ill, and while he was ill I shared his illness. I was miserable, too, for I love him. Last night after his bath and before he went to bed, I engaged with him again and heard him laugh, saw him smile, and felt his tiny hand gratefully cupping my face. He was full of joy—nothing more than the common joy of a little child—but I shared his joy. I was happy, too, for I love him.

As a result of this experience, I understand better that God shares my misery and gloom, my sin and grief even as He shares my joy. He is my Father and He loves me, for I am His son.

Do I love Christ enough to share the suffering which His great love cost Him during that last tragic week which He lived on earth? If I do, I shall certainly love Him enough to share in His resurrection glory. "Yes, if we share in His sufferings we shall certainly share in His glory."

Prayer
O Father, Thou invest us unendingly and take our burdens upon Thyself. Touch us to help lift our brothers' burdens through sharing in the passion of Thy blessed Son our Lord, in whose spirit and in whose name we pray. Amen.

Thought For the Day
I love Christ; I share His sufferings today and shall share His glory tomorrow. —Stanley A. Fry (Brazil)

NEW CHRISTIAN SCIENCE TV PROGRAM DRAWS INTEREST

Nationwide demand for religious telecasts "so far exceeded our expectations, we decided to produce additional programs almost immediately," said Will B. Davis, Manager of Christian Science Committee of Publication, in announcing release of a second group of Christian Science TV films.

Over 100 television stations have broadcast the initial 13 programs in the series "How Christian Science Heals" since they were first released last September.

"Today's unprecedented interest in religion is bringing more people than ever before an appreciation of the rules for living taught in the Bible," he declared. "We are convinced that religion holds greater resources for mankind than is generally realized. Our TV programs are designed to show how practical religion can be in meeting problems of modern living."

No actors were used in the programs which were produced with professional direction under the supervision of the TV staff of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

"Do Busy People Need Religion?" "The Lame Shall Walk" and "The

ANNUAL FARM AND HOME WEEK BANQUET TOPS IN ENJOYMENT

Considered by many to be the outstanding single event of the crowded Farm and Home Week calendar at the University of Maine is the annual Farm and Home Week Banquet. This year's banquet, scheduled for April 5, is no exception, according to an announcement made today by the Farm and Home Week committee.

The featured speaker of the evening will be Dr. Henry Gerald, noted psychiatrist and mental scientist. Since his arrival in this country eight years ago Dr. Gerald's abilities to delight and baffles his audience have earned him wide renown. His presentation is entitled "Mind Over Matter."

This program of amazing and amusing experiments in mental telepathy, psychology, hypnosis and clairvoyance is outstanding. While Dr. Gerald lays no claim to the supernatural, his wide range of demonstrations leaves the audience deeply impressed by such abilities.

Dr. Gerald has studied in universities in Denmark, Switzerland, France and Germany and practiced as a qualified psychiatrist for many years. He is a showman capable of weaving a spell of personal charm over his audience with skillful and thought-provoking feats.

Also on the program will be greetings from the University of Maine to the assembled guests, delivered by President Arthur A. Hauck. Governor Edmund S. Muskie is scheduled to present an address of interest to Maine people. Toastmaster for the affair will be Arthur L. Deering, dean of agriculture at the University.

Concluding the banquet program again this year will be the much enjoyed old-fashioned square dance for Farm and Home Week visitors. Howie Davidson, of Newcastle, will be the caller.

SCHOOL NEWS

Grade 6-Miss Varner

We would like to thank Mrs. Richardson for coming to tell us about Mexico. Nelson Smith won first place in elation for Grades 6, 7, and 8, at the Gould Academy Carnival. "Congratulations, Nelson." We finished our Teeth Charts Monday. A letter came from Welsar, Idaho, from a sixth grade boy who is studying about Maine. We are going to write to him and send him some booklets. Billy Stowell had a trip to Boston on Tuesday. We are studying a booklet on careers finding out necessary education and salaries for each one. Thought for the week-"The time may pass-but you may not."-Reporter, Charlie Newell.

Grade 6-Mrs. Lord

Again the sixth grade is very grateful to Senora Richardson for speaking to us about Mexico. She showed us many articles from there and we enjoyed her visit very much. We also have had fun putting our exhibit together. We are now learning about the countries of Central America which are similar to Mexico. It seems wonderful to have had 1955 in attendance all this week. We started division of fractions this week.

Grade 7

The cheerleaders and basketball players are selling tickets to a banquet which will be held Friday the 10th, at the Congregational Church. It will be sponsored by the PTA. Our Social Studies Project in the Underway. We are making Paper mache Globes in Mr. Helms' room. They are helping up their Science projects. Central Maine Headlines is back to school again after a week in the hospital for observation. Mrs. Helms visited in Mr. Helms' room Tuesday afternoon. Our best reports are due March 15 for English class. The basketball players will receive letters and the cheerleaders will receive medals. Reporters Mary Willard, Clara Berry.

"Frozen Dairy Semen" and George Bailey of Freeport, Pa., with a humorous and entertaining presentation of "Memory, Music, and Magic." President Herbert Hawes, of Union, will preside and speak briefly. Secretary-Treasurer Harold Bennett, of Bethel, will report. An election of officers will be held.

A cafeteria lunch will be served at the Augusta Armory at noon, announces Paul B. Browne, manager of the dairy breeding cooperative.

Discussing "Today's Dairy Business," Dean Deering will outline some of the common problems dairymen and the University of Maine face. He'll discuss changes facing dairymen and the cost of maintaining an efficient operation. The Dean will also cover progress in dairy breeding, feeding, and marketing, the importance of good forage programs, and the need for well-trained, capable, progressive farm operators.

Dean Deering was born and raised on a progressive dairy farm in Denmark, Oxford County. They had the first purebred dairy herd in town and made the first grass silage. A graduate of Bridgton Academy young Deering worked for a Boston milk distributing company and then on a large dairy farm in Massachusetts.

He was graduated from the University of Maine in 1912, where he majored in dairy husbandry. Since then he has served Maine people as county agent, county agent leader, assistant Extension director, dean of the College of Agriculture, and for the last 18 years as head of all agricultural activities at the University.

Conservation Farming

In Oxford County
by Douglas L. Marston
Soil Conservation Service
We have had some new requests for assistance in conservation work this week and these include the following farms: Alvin Brown, We-terford; Clarence Everett, Welch-ville; Don and Jim Mason, Woodstock and Horace Williams, Jr., Welchville.
Alvin Brown plans to clear up brush on pastureland; and Clarence Everett has a large drainage project on his poultry and sheep farm.
Don and Jim Mason of Woodstock are planning on 8 acres on contour strip cropping, brush removal on pastureland; a pipeline installation for watering cattle on pasture and a sod waterway.
Horace Williams Jr. of Welch-ville plans on a drainage ditch on his farm.
The program for the Maine Farm and Home Week is out now and I noticed that Alfalfa is highlighting the Forage Crops program.
Soil Conservation District Cooperators whose primary interest is forage crops and cattle should certainly benefit from this portion of the program. On the same program on Tuesday, April 3, there is also an interesting discussion on Selecting Grassland Seeding best suited to Different Maine Soils.

family of Rumbold Point were Sunday morning guests of Mr and Mrs Fred Judkins.
Those attending the Carnival Ball at Gould Academy Saturday night were: Mrs Elsie Douglass, Mrs
Mary Rolfe, Mrs Katharine Wight, and Mr and Mrs Edgar M Bailey, Jr.
On Tuesday evening, March 13,
Mr and Mrs C A Judkins attended a Farm Bureau meeting at South Paris.
On Sunday evening, March 11,
the second of a series of movies on Canada was presented by the chairman of the "Know Your Neighbor" program of the Extension Service, at the school house.
Lloyd Enman was home from school at Mexico high last week.

News of 4-H CLUBS

The meeting of the Zippy Newspaper was called to order by President Beth Ann Brown. We sang America, had the flag salute, and club pledge. We had the secretary's report. We worked on our drawing bags which are to be done for the Myie Dress Revue. Our teacher, Betty Perkins, birthday was last Friday. We all chipped in and bought her a present, which was presented by Nancy Cole and Sharon York. Reporter, Claudia DeMonte.

The Lucky 13 4-H Club met at Mrs. Rachel Mackay's home after school Monday and entertained our Mothers at an afternoon tea. We all had a part in bringing the refreshments and serving them. The refreshments served were sandwiches, cookies, tea, punch and coffee. We enjoyed doing these things for our Mothers and showing them that we are learning new grown-up ways, and of course, it is always fun to have special sales once in a while. Those present were Mrs. James Brown, Mrs. Alfred Brown and daughter, Vivian, Mrs. Addison Saunders, Mrs. Ralph Kimball, Mrs. Rufus Rice and daughter, Sally, Mrs. Virginia McMillin, Mrs. Rodney James and son, Sam, Mrs. Jay Willard and daughter, Mrs. Abbie Brown and Mrs. Rachel Mackay. We wish to extend our sincere thanks to Mrs. Gail Edwards for loaning us her coffee service to use. We are so pleased that Bonnie James and Julia Brown, who participated in the demonstration finals held at South Paris on March 3 were winners to their demonstration on "Making Baked Apples." Congratulations, girls! Bonnie Rice, Reporter.

Bethel Boy Scouts. We met at the home of our leader, Mrs. John Brown. The president called the meeting to order and the secretary read her report and then the treasurer collected dues. Then our leader checked our notebooks to see if everything was inside them. We planned to make a kerchief on Monday. We had refreshments of cookies and drink. One Knutland announced the meeting. Our Club name was changed by losing a member. At our Monday's meeting we started on our kerchief. The president called the meeting to order.

Miss Margaret Louise Rolfe

ROLFE - OSGOOD

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Winfield Rolfe of North Waterford have announced the engagement of their daughter, Margaret Louise, to Chester L. Osgood, of Bethel.

Miss Rolfe is a senior at Gould Academy and Mr. Osgood is employed by Russell Smith in Norway. No date has been set for the wedding.

der and the secretary gave her report then the treasurer collected the dues. We took our kerchiefs home to take out the thread an inch in. We will take them Monday and try to finish them. Refreshments were served of cookies and drink by Charlene Rice and Nancy Brown. Norma Kimball and Darlene Morrill will bring refreshments next week. Charlene Rice, Reporter.

There's a spread of about 14 to 15 cents a dozen between the price poultrymen in Maine receive for eggs at the farm and what home-makers pay for them at the retail store.

Bethel, whose engagement to Norton L. Cross was recently announced.

GRASS ROOTS OPINION

Plentywood, Mont., Herald: "The Hoover Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government...headed by former President Herbert Hoover, has made an exhaustive study of the federal government to determine how it should best be organized and operated....But already political opposition is developing, principally from those who are devoted to the philosophy of unlimited federal spending."

Norwalk, Conn., Hour: "The common economic goal of the free world, to discourage communism, is removing barriers to the flow of capital. The opportunities for achieving a stronger free world and at the same time for sound investment are fabulous. By strengthening capitalism abroad, we are strengthening the free enterprise system, which is basic to our own way of life."

CUB SCOUTS

Den No. 2--Meeting was held at Den Mother's house with all members present. We worked on our skit for the Pack meeting. Roll call was taken by naming under-water fish. Hughes Chapman, assessor.

Den Four--We met at Mrs. Glines. We made diving scoops for the Pack meeting and had the salute to the flag and the cub scout promise.

See. We played outdoors. -- B. Boynton.

Cub Scouts, Den 5--We met at the usual time. Opened the meeting read the sea story of Old Stormy. We practiced our skit for pack meeting, and had an octopus race. Meeting closed with the living circle. Jeffrey Howe, Keeper of the Buckskin.
